

Matt Hudson is the Chief Financial Officer at Superhuman, bringing two decades of experience blending financial acumen and technical expertise.

Prior to his current role, Matt mostly recently served as the CFO of Coda, where he oversaw finance, data science, and go-to-market strategy & ops. He was part of the founding team and contributed to product management, growth, and go-to-market as a cross-functional operator. Before Coda, he was at Google and YouTube, where he worked on high-impact finance and data science teams during periods of rapid growth.

Matt holds a BS in Business and an MS in Data Science from the University of Michigan.
